Abridged from the Cincinnati Enquirer. DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION FOURTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

MORNING SESSION, June 5. At ten o'clock the President called the Con ent onto order.

There was a division of the committee, and I 6, Florida 3, Iowa 4-128. am prepared to read the report which has been adopted by the majority, if the Convention is the minority, reported by Mr. Bayard, as adopted by the majority, if the Convention is ready to receive it. ["Yes! Go on, go on!"]

Mr. Stevenson having ascended the platform addressed the Convention. After argument and addressed the Convention. After argument and ind the INFIRM, of all climes, ages, sexes, and long consultation, both sections of the Democrateries the manufacture of his medicines in the UnitedStates, and offers them to a free and enlighten or to stand on the noble platform yesterday erected by this Convention. It is certainly a matter of regret that at one time the Democratic party in N. Y. was divided in an unfortunate, I must say, dis-

Horatio Seymore are a regularly organized portion of the Democratic party of said State, and whereas the lelegation from said State, represented by the Hon. S. Beard lev. also represent the organized portion of the Democracy of said State, and whereas, said delegations have voluntarily pledged themselves to abide by the decision and support both the nominees of the National Dem. Convention now in session, and the platform of principles adopted, therefore.

Resolved, That that portion of the Democracy which the Hon Horatio Seymour is chairman, are entitled, on the score of numbers, to fortyfour delegates, and that portion of the Democracy rapresented by the delegations, of which the Hon. S. Beardsley is chairman, is entitled on the score of members to twenty-six delegates in said Convention, and that said delegation be admitted in proportion aforesaid to seats in the Convention, the persons to be admitted to be designated bp the respective delegations, and that, in counting the vote of State of New York in the Convention, the minority shall not be subject to the majority without their consent.
